

INTRODUCTION FOR SEAN STEPHENSON

(Name Pronounced: Shawn Stevenson)

Doctors warned Sean's parents that he wouldn't even survive his first 24 hours of life because of complications from a rare bone disorder that causes the bones to be extremely fragile. Fortunately Sean had other plans. Amidst the 200 bone fractures Sean incurred growing up, nothing has broken his will to succeed. He graduated from DePaul University, worked as a direct liaison to the President in the White House, authored 4 books, traveled to 47 states and 6 countries, and became a board certified therapist just to name a few of his many accomplishments. Sean has spent the past 12 years working with and presenting to thousands of students across the nation.

Please help me in welcoming Sean Stephenson.
